

Punny Wall

Access/notes: From Highway 99, go up the Conroy Forest Service Road and take a left at the small middle parking lot. Keep going down the road for about a minute and you'll see a large crag on your right, opposite to the campsites. Near the Ursa Minor/Kaiju Bear/Andre's Wall areas.

The area gets sun in the morning and shade in the afternoon. Ideal for sunny summer days. The routes are generously bolted.

Special thanks to Mr. Pusheen for all his help.

From left to right:

1. Mt. Snuggles - 5.8 - 29 metres - 16 bolts

Climb the right facing corner at the base of the crag. Thoughtful face climbing leads into a short crack with hand and finger jams. Then up a featured blocky section until finishing with a very low angle slab. With the amount of bolting, it's not a struggle — it's a snuggle!

FA - Steven Chua & Kushwant Bussawah, June 2024

2. The MinoriTeam - 5.9 - 26 metres - 11 bolts

Leftmost climb on the main ledge. Access the start via CyberCuck (pull rope). Starts up a left-trending seam, then to a big ledge rest. This is the start of the trickiest section. Navigate this by finding a hidden jug, then, a few moves later, a hidden side-pull to the right.

FA - Steven Chua, Kushwant Bussawah, Eli Charest & Lisa Lawee, August 2023

3. Obvious Line - 5.10 - 26 metres - 14 bolts

Also on the main ledge. Access the start via CyberCuck (pullrope). To the right of The MinoriTeam. Climb the obvious line. Tricky start leads to a jug haul. Caps off with a high mantle.

FA - Kushwant Bussawah, Eli Charest, Steven Chua, August 2023

4. CyberCuck - 5.0 - Fixed line, bolts

The way to access routes on the main ledge. Climb the fixed line with an option to clip the bolts. It's a real climb, we swear!

FA - Lisa Lawee, Kushwant Bussawah, April 2023